Congregational Church To Install Pastor Tuesday May 10th

On Tuesday, May 10th will be held the installation services at the Unitarian Congregational Church of the new pastor, the Rev. W. Stanley Carne who comes from Gorham, Me., a member of the Congregational body of that state. The ceremonies will begin at four o'clock in the afternoon and President Paul Moody of Middlebury College will deliver the installation sermon. Mr. Fred B. Dole of Shelburne who is President of the County Congregational Union will conduct the installation at 6.30 o'clock. A supper will be served in the church vestry and at 7.45 o'clock the evening service will begin.

Special music has been arranged and Glanville Davies of Burlington, Vt., has been asked to take part and sing two solos together with the large choir under the direction of Prof. Lawrence.

All Congregational Churches in the county are expected to send delegates and special invitations to leaders of other denominations are being issued by the church to the sessions.

Prof. McConaughy Speaks; Other Hermon News

"Our schools today err in not affording enough opportunities to the students for educating their emotions," was the statement of Prof. Mary McConaughy of Mount Holyoke and Swarthmore college at a lecture before the faculty of Mount Hermon school last Saturday. "The personalities of boys and girls would develop more if as much stress were placed on the social as on the academic activities," she declared. "All people have the desire to satisfy two fundamental needs. The first is success in expressing oneself. Young people just out of college in these days have great difficulty in getting any position at all, let alone one that will call out their best selves. The second desire is for love; certainly people do not want to be disliked. Too many people are prevented from expressing their love life and thus shut themselves up." Prof. McConaughy went on to say that negative emotions result from enclosing the personality like a shell. These minus signs are cynicism, atheism, self-pity, anger, and jealousy. The positive emotions release courage, self-confidence, optimism, faith, and a sense of humor.

Sunday speakers for May at Mount Hermon school are as follows: May 1, Rev. J. McConaughy of Germantown, Pa.; 8th, Rev. Charles R. Erdman of Princeton, N. J.; 15th, Rev. Lester P. White, pastor; in the evening, Wilfred W. Fry, president of the N. W. Ayer company of Philadelphia; 22d, Dr. Robert R. Fritch, head of the Bible department, Muhlenberg college, Allentown, Pa.; 29th, Bishop John T. Dallas of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson A. Jackson, left Saturday afternoon for a week end automobile trip to Saratoga Springs where they visited Mrs. Jackson's sister.

Paul A. Williams of the West Springfield high school visited friends on the campus on Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Cutler had as their guests over the week end Dr. James McConaughy, of Philadelphia, Pa., former head of the Bible department at Mount Hermon.

Barbara Stanwyck Loses Heart To Dickie Moore Latest Don Juan

The latest scandal whispered across the country from Hollywood is that Barbara Stanwyck and Dickie Moore are "that way" about each other. It's the talk of the movie capital!

They are both in the cast of "So Big" the Warner Bros. screen adaptation of Edna Ferber's novel which comes to the Auditorium Theatre Monday and Tuesday, May 9 and 10 and it was while the picture was in production that all the talk arose. Barbara and Dickie, it seemed, made no secret of the fact that they were crazy about each other; their flirtation was open and unashamed. And when the film was completed Miss Stanwyck gave Dickie a beautiful gold watch with the inscription: "To Dickie Moore, in appreciation of his grand work in 'So Big' Barbara Stanwyck Fay."

For Barbara, of course, is married; and her husband, Frank Fay, saw what was going on and made not the slightest objection!

Dickie Moore, you see, is now five years old, going on six. You may have seen him act in "The Star Witness" and "The Expert" with Chic Sale; and if so, you don't wonder at Barbara Stanwyck's having fallen for him. Nor, if you have seen Miss Stanwyck, will you be surprised that Dickie succumbed also.

The cast of "So Big" includes besides Barbara Stanwyck and Dickie Moore such well known players as George Brent, Bette Davis, Hardie Albright, Alan Hale and Dorothy Peterson. It was directed by William A. Wellman.

Just "greasing" 'im not enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Haigis Again Talked For State Governor

Rumors from Boston are again prevalent that the name of Mr. John W. Haigis of Greenfield, former State Treasurer, is being urged for the Republican nomination of Governor. Former Governor Fuller's name is also mentioned as a possible candidate. Mr. Haigis was in Boston a short time ago and after he had returned home, the report that he and Fuller might be induced to make the run for these nominations began to gain circulation.

Former Treasurer Haigis retired to private life of his own volition after considering for some time the idea of a proffer of a nomination for a higher office.

He has a host of friends in all parts of the state and many Republican leaders would like to see him return to public life. His service as state senator and state treasurer brought him some disillusionment regarding the rewards that go with public office, but his friends are hoping he is willing to overlook these and get back into the game.

His Northfield friends are solid for him.

No Time To Fish; Harry Stays On Job

The other day a number of local men gave Harry Gingsras the "urge" to fish and he had to admit his "fever" to wade the brooks and hook the elusive trout was high. When asked by a representative of The Herald why he didn't go, as everyone is doing, he said he didn't have the time. You know, he said, that I have just completed the many improvements to my store and I am busy now rearranging my stock and filling my shelves with the additional stock of goods that have come in. I expect to conduct my store on modern lines, give good and complete service to all my customers and my patronage is such at present that I can't go a-fishing. I am not thinking of any vacation and am attending strictly to business. Next year perhaps I'll go a-fishing.

That Rummage Sale

Great preparations are under way for the Rummage Sale at Green Pastures on May 21st. All who have clothing or other objects to contribute to the rummage sale are notified by the committee that if they will communicate with the committee the articles will be called for. The date is set early in order that housewives doing their spring cleaning may have the sale in mind.

The committee is: Mrs. W. R. Moody, Mrs. A. P. Pitt, Mrs. Carroll Rickett of Mount Hermon, Mrs. Samuel Walker, Mrs. Wolfert Weber, Mrs. Allen Wright, Mrs. William P. Stanley and Mrs. G. E. Bond.

Broadcasted

W. B. Z., broadcast recently concerning the work of the Center School playground as an outstanding effort for school children and on last Saturday reference was made in the 4-H Program to the effort of the Handicraft Club under the leadership of Mr. Henry Johnson in making bird houses to send the members to the camp at Colrain from the profits of its sale. The sending of a bird house to President Hoover and his acknowledgment was also reported.

Caught Small Fox

While Mrs. Arthur Lawrence of Birmam Road was driving along that highway last Saturday, she passed a small fox curled up and lying alongside the road. Telephoning her husband he dispatched Mr. Thomas Parker to the scene and the little fellow was caught easily. The fox evidently was sick from some cause and would not eat and Mr. Parker found it necessary to kill it.

April Rain Fall

The record of rain fall for the month of April as recorded at the Northfield Seminary by Mr. George W. Carr officially for the State is as follows:

April 5, .06 inches; 9th, .15; 10th, .21; 11th, .95; 12th, .64; 25th, .14; 30th, .42.

Harmony Lodge Masons With Many Guests Honor Washington

Harmony Lodge of Masons observed the George Washington Bicentennial on Tuesday evening with a banquet at the Northfield Hotel and exercises in its Temple on Parker street. A large number of guests were present from Hinsdale, Greenfield, Turners Falls and other places. Following a reception by the Committee in charge which consisted of W. M. Clarence M. Steadler, Walter W. Hyde, Ralph M. Forsyth, Allen H. Wright, M. D., Charles C. Stearns at the hotel, the banquet was served, consisting of puree of tomato, sweet pickle olives, fried chicken, bacon, baked potatoes, green peas, fruit salad, Parker rolls, ice cream, assorted cake, mints, coffee and cigars.

Afterward the company adjourned to the Masonic Temple and the Lodge was called to order by Wor. Master Steadler with all the officers at their stations. Bro. William Stearns of Brattleboro rendered an organ prelude and the Masonic Quartette consisting of first tenor, Edgar J. Livingston; second tenor, Dr. A. H. Wright; first bass, Walter W. Hyde; second bass, Leon R. Alexander; rendered several pleasing selections especially the one "Carry me to old Virginia."

The chaplain of the evening was Wor. T. F. Darby the Chaplain of Harmony Lodge. Wor. Mas. Steadler welcomed the guests in a few well chosen words and invited all Past Masters to the platform. Bro. William F. Hoehn was introduced as speaker who spoke of Washington—in memorial vein. He said from Cambridge to Yorktown through the years Washington gathered his men and with undying and unselfish devotion served them and his country until the fairest flag of liberty was thrown to the breeze and the nation started on its own career. Read the story of his life and take from it the exemplary character of the man. Pass with him through the Gethsemane of Valley Forge and be impressed that the lesson of such men is that they who serve are eternal. "In Masonry and its institutions," Washington sought that solace and personal sense of satisfaction, not only in its ritual but in its fellowship, which is the common heritage of all brother Masons.

Hon. John W. Haigis was accorded a real welcome and introduced as speaker. Mr. Haigis, who spoke on "Washington, the Man and the Mason," said in part:

"Because George Washington was a Mason, it is but natural that our lodges through the country recognize the 200th anniversary of his birth. It is fitting that this should be so, and as Masons, the inspiration received from such gatherings as this is sure to awaken anew the lessons taught by Washington's life and emphasize again our responsibilities to this great order, so well exemplified by the illustrious brother to whom we are paying tribute tonight."

District Deputy Donald Mathewson of the fourteenth district was present and called upon. He paid a tribute to the many Masons who were associated with Washington and urged Harmony to preserve its own valuable heritage.

The gathering of Masons was indeed a successful event and reflects much credit upon the Committee who had the same in charge. Harmony Lodge has indeed fittingly observed the anniversary of its Brother Mason George Washington.

Adjourned Town Meeting Tuesday, May 10th

Voters are requested not to forget the adjourned town meeting in Town Hall Tuesday evening, May 10th at 7.30 o'clock to consider a further report of the selectmen on the Schell bridge improvement. A report will be made of a conference with state officials upon the subject—and the bids will again be presented for consideration. A good attendance is hoped for.

Coffee Demonstration

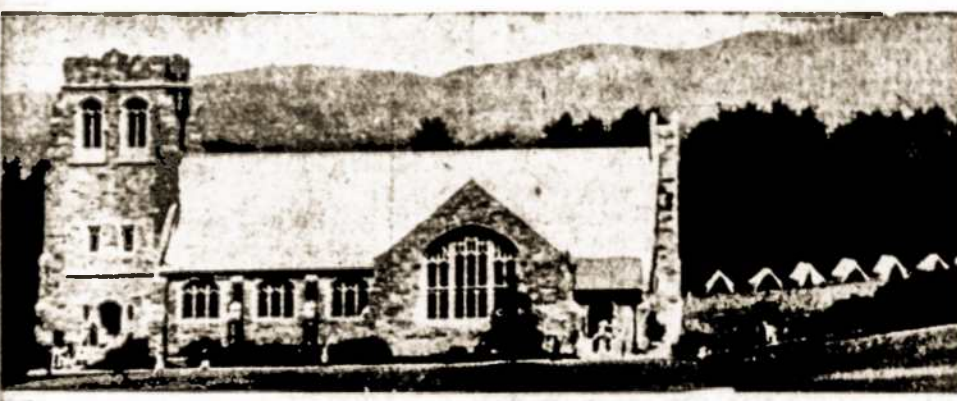

Mr. Frank W. Kellogg advises us that he will have a demonstration of coffee making in his store on Saturday using the I. G. A. brand of coffee so well known. Better get down to the I. G. A. store and taste a cup of that delicious coffee.

Makes Annual Walk; Mr. Hayden Now 86 Foots Greenfield Trip

Mr. Henry L. Hayden, now 86 years of age and one of Northfield's citizens celebrated his birthday on last Thursday by walking to Greenfield and back to Northfield, refusing all offers to ride by auto. He reported that 178 automobiles passed him by actual count. Upon arrival at Greenfield he had lunch at the Mansion House where he greeted many friends. The octogenarian was more sprightly than on his pilgrimage last year observers said.

Mr. Hayden continues to work six days a week and has been outdoors in all kinds of weather this winter. He rooms alone, getting his own breakfasts and eating heartily of whatever he likes but never between meals.

He is the representative of the Rawleigh Co., in this territory selling flavoring extracts, toothpaste, soap, etc., and has hundreds of customers. He solicits his orders and make delivery afoot. To a Herald representative Mr. Hayden said he never felt better in his life.

SAGE CHAPEL—Northfield Seminary

Faculty Play Given; Other Seminary Notes

The annual faculty play of the Northfield Seminary was presented Saturday evening in Silverthorne Hall before a large and enthusiastic audience. Sir James Barrie's The Admirable Crichton in four acts was produced under the direction of Beulah M. Scott. Crichton was played by Lester P. White.

Others participating were George McEwan, Virginia Wells, Katherine Rogers, Florence Lyon, Ernest Edmunds, Merwin D. Birdsall, E. Ellis Jones, Grace Field, Erma Berry, Louise Arnett, Harriett Howard, Mrs. Elizabeth Hume, Marjorie Schlotterback, Marian Keller, Lester Polhemus, Thelma Spence, Jane Shaffer, Margaret Chapin, Isabel Blair, Annie Mildred Herring. The play was well rendered and those taking part acted remarkably well.

Sunday speakers for May at Northfield seminary are as follows: May 1, Paul S. McElroy of Union theological seminary, New York city; 8th, Rev. Kenneth B. Welles of Westminster Presbyterian church, Albany, N. Y.; 15th, Rev. Robert Russell of the Larchmont, N. Y.; 29th, President Paul Moody of Middlebury college.

Planted Trees

Last Saturday, April 30th was Arbor and Bird day made by proclamation of Governor Ely in which he said in part:

"I would call the attention of all the inhabitants of the state to an especial reason for the planting of trees now. We are already celebrating, beginning on the 22d of February, the Bi-Centennial of the birth of George Washington, and this celebration will continue until the end of Thanksgiving, 1932. One of the unique methods of honoring his memory is to have ten million trees planted by ten million individuals in all parts of our country. These are not to be monuments of marble, not statues of stone or bronze, but growing things alive with life, emblematic of that living nation which the first president guided into being. They will be the more significant because the hands of thousands of citizens have planted them."

Fisherman's Luck

Friends of Mr. Harry E. Duren of Greenfield are having a lot of fun over his recent fishing experience.

It seems he is a regular Isaac Walton and although a busy man wanted a little diversion and try out at fishing. He secured a Vermont fishing license and a new outfit and started off for Vermont waters last week not knowing that the season dates for fishing were changed to begin May 1st. Of course a warden was on the job and it cost him $45 fine for his fishing.

Now when you ask Mr. Duren to go a-fishing you only get a "shrug" from him and he is firmly convinced that Massachusetts offers better facilities and he won't bother with "foreign entanglements." Better come up to Northfield Brother and fish in our waters and we will go with you.

Notice For South Vernon

Next Sunday is Mothers' Day and the pastor requests that all mothers in South Vernon and vicinity will be present at the morning services.

Mr. Conner retires soon but the work will continue by Rev. Mrs. Conner. It was voted to conduct the every member canvass in June.

Mr. Fred Irish was moderator of the meeting and Mr. C. C. Stearns clerk. The executive committee of the church were elected as follows: Mrs. C. C. Stearns, Fred Irish, Mrs. Maria Keet, Miles Morgan, Frank W. Williams and William A. Barr. Charles C. Stearns was re-elected clerk and F. W. Williams was re-elected treasurer.

Well Known Store Has 50th Anniversary

Half a hundred years is a long time but such is the span of Wilson's Department store and their 50 anniversary is being observed for eight days beginning Friday May 6th to 14th.

In 1882 the store was known as the Boston store and continued under that name until 1896 when the late John Wilson, a native of Scotland, a young man with considerable merchandising experience in Scotland and England bought the store and was a popular and successful merchant until in 1929 when ill health necessitated his retirement.

Mr. Wilson was well known in Northfield and had many friends here. His store was a popular resort for Northfield purchasers and he probably carried more accounts of individuals from this territory than any other establishment.

In 1929 he sold his interest to its present owners R. Stanley Reid, formerly manager of The Boston Store in North Adams; and George L. Willis, formerly manager of The Wallace Company in Pittsfield both of whom are in active charge of affairs and who are giving their personal attention to all of its affairs.

In the early days the store occupied but a section of the Old American house, while today the store, in its original location, has doubled the width and length and added a modern basement and a second floor. The entire store consists of 16 modern departments carrying complete lines of Dry Goods, Women's and Children's ready to wear and accessories, Haberdashery and house furnishings.

The Northfield Herald extends its congratulations to Wilson's and wishes for the house and its proprietors all possible success. As a modern up to date store carrying attractive full lines of merchandise it will appeal to the people of Northfield and vicinity as it has in the past.

A service of holy communion will be conducted at 7.30 o'clock the following morning. Breakfast will be served at 8.30 o'clock. During a business session at 9.30 o'clock the roll of clerical and lay delegates will be called.

Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Davis, bishop of the diocese, will make his annual address at 12.15 o'clock. George A. Gaskill of All Saint's church, chancellor of the diocese, will speak at 12.30 o'clock. The business session will be resumed after luncheon at 1 o'clock.

School Children To Provide Memorial

Appreciating the fact that the George Washington Bi-centennial celebration cannot be complete without the participation of the school children, the Massachusetts Commission is anxious that each school child pay homage to the memory of the Father of Our Country.

Since the school child knows little and cares less about the general business depression in the country and the economic problems puzzling the leaders of the Nations of the world, the Commission, many months ago, and after considerable thought and study decided to keep alive in the minds of these children the glory of Washington, by making it possible for them to accomplish something outstanding during the Bi-centennial year. Thus the Commission is carrying through a plan calling for a school children's Memorial which is being erected through the contribution of a few pennies each from the school children.

In return for each school children's contribution, the Commission presents a Washington Memorial Contributor's Medal.

School children and teachers who seek further information concerning this memorial may communicate with Major Robert E. Green, 99 Chauncy street, Boston, Massachusetts.

Rehearsals Under Way

A special rehearsal for the sacred concert to be given June 5, was held on Sunday afternoon last in the Auditorium of Northfield Seminary, attended by students of both Mount Hermon and the Seminary. Mr. Arthur J. Philips came up from New York to conduct the rehearsal. Those who were privileged to hear say that the concert planned for this year in the Auditorium will be of exceptional character.

Primary Expensive

Votes at the Presidential primaries in Erring at the last election, came high. It is estimated that each vote cost the town $2.50. Only 20 votes were cast, 15 Republican and five Democratic. The polls were open from 12 noon to 8 p.m., and votes were cast at the rates of 2 1-2 every half hour.

Business Women To Gather Soon

The Franklin County Business and Professional Women's clubs, Miss Ellen Linblad, president, will be the hostess to the annual convention of the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs at the Weldon hotel May 21 and 22. Miss Schain of New York city international relations chairman for the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, will be the principal speaker. Several Northfield women are members of the County organization.

Baseball Begins Friday May 13th

Friday the 13th holds no "jinx" we hope for the Northfield Baseball team but upon that date at 5.45 o'clock in the afternoon upon the grounds of The Northfield Hotel a "try out" game will be held of all baseball player candidates. The game will be played with the High School team who expect to trim the "shakedown" team. However, its going to be an interesting game and a lot of people will want to see the fun. Everybody come and if you think you can play ball, ask for a "try-out" and show them.

Cottage Sold

Mr. Leon Taber of Mount Hermon has sold "Southworth" his cottage in Rustic Ridge to Miss Josephine A. Moody of New York City. Mr. W. W. Coe made the sale.

EDITORIAL

Sunday will be observed as "Mother's day." The special day of all the year when we will honor her with our prayers and with our gifts, yet among all true men and women, every day is mother's day. And if we remember her precepts and are guided by her example, the world will be full of beauty and unselfishness. To all mothers everywhere let us pay that heart tribute which is due them, but which we more especially owe to ourselves, for no thought of motherhood can come to us without lifting us nearer to God.

The planting of a tree, (Norway Spruce) in the town of Orange as part of the George Washington bicentennial observance by the Orange Woman's club is a highly commendable act. In Holyoke The Woman's Club and the Daughters of the Revolution joined in a similar act with Mrs. Magna the newly-elected President of the D. A. R., as speaker and in Easthampton several trees were planted by the women all within the past week. Surely the women are sympathetic to the idea of planting a tree in this bi-centennial year to commemorate again in the form of "a living thing" the memory of our first President. Why not women of Northfield, do the same thing for our town?

Wonder what makes a good citizen? Is it business success? Is it political property or what is it? Some one has said that a good citizen is one who is just with his neighbors, one who pays his debts and observes the Golden rule of life. Whatever may be the standard of measurement hardly any of us come fully to the highest ideals but there is an estimation and appreciation which can be reached by all. Scoffers and "scofflaws" sorcerers and black mailers may be exempted from any ideal as they are hopeless as good citizens. Some one again has expressed a true interpretation and perhaps the following quoted declaration may convey the thought of good citizenship.

"I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man live so that his place will be proud of him. Be honest, but hate no one; overturn a man's wrongdoing but do not overturn him unless it must be done in the overturning of the wrong. Stand with anybody that stands right. Stand with him while he is right and part with him when he goes wrong."

What think you reader?

A South Egremont auction to be held May 10 is advertised in the Berkshire Courier to start at 1 p.m. "fool time," the advertiser feeling reasonably sure that everybody will recognize this as the well-known so-called daylight saving time. But the majority of folks feel sorry for the poor fellow who can't appreciate a good thing. The world "do move" brother.

The Literary Digest has closed its poll on the wet-dry issue and the result is an indication that repeal is favored by 73 per cent.

A total of 4,668,537 ballots were returned and counted in this "straw" referendum. The division of the final figures shows, 1,236,660, or 26.49 per cent, voting for continuance of the prohibition amendment and 3,431,877, or 3.51 per cent favoring repeal.

In an unforgettable years of public anxiety, controversy and political ferment but also of courage and hope, the magazine states editorially. The Literary Digest offers this prohibition poll to the nation as a rounded contribution to the sum of public knowledge concerning the under-currents of national opinion and sentiment on this issue.

However the results of the poll, may still be open to question and not conclusive. Only a fraction of our population responded and only a part of those receiving ballots returned them. Perhaps the question will never be settled until the people officially have the opportunity of declaring themselves.

Publicity Director Charles E. Crane of the National Life Insurance company told the Northfield chamber of commerce that "the poorest publicity that Northfield receives is through the weather bureau."

He said there are other places in Vermont just as cold as or colder than Northfield, but through the weather bureau "this town often receives front page news that would have a tendency to keep people from coming here."

(Rutland, Vt., Herald)

But the hard part of the above story is that no one really knows where Northfield is—that the reports have reference to—and think of course it is Northfield, Mass.

Things are looking a little better these days, for business. Bank failures have been practically stopped—more money is being put into the hands of banks through the purchase of government securities by the Federal Reserve System—the foundation is clearly being laid for a reversal of the business trend.

Obviously, this change will not take place suddenly, but even though the movement be slow, if it is in the right direction, I think we are all willing to do a reasonable amount of waiting.

The automobile industry has stepped up production substantially—commodity prices have steadied, and many items have risen markedly from their low points—supplies of goods in dealers' hands are generally low—in short, it looks as though the first streaks of improvement are becoming visible all along the line. Under such conditions, the coming year presents one of the greatest opportunities to business men that we have experienced for a long time.

So says a report of business conditions to The Herald and we are inclined to accept it. Already a more optimistic outlook prevails.

OBITUARY

FRANK ELON HEALD

Frank Elon Heald died at his home on Maple street, Monday evening, May 2nd. He had been in failing health for several years but the end was rather sudden. High School Notes

Miss Lawley returned last Thursday from the principals' convention at Framingham. Friday morning in assembly she gave us an interesting and instructive account of her trip.

The operetta, "The Nifty Shop," to be given by the Glee Club of the high school is progressing rapidly. It is in charge of Miss Webster.

Mary Dalton and John Lematowicz are still absent from school on account of measles.

Robert Chadwick of Wollaston, Mass., has entered the sophomore class. He will live at Northfield Farms.

Mr. L. R. Talbot, educational field agent of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, gave a bird lecture at the school Friday, April 29. His talk was illustrated by pictures of birds that inhabit New England and the south.

Last Thursday Ralph Kervian gave an oral theme, in assembly on John Burroughs; Monday Evelyn Havercroft reviewed the story, "Christmas Eve with Satan," and Monday Mary Breinig gave an interesting account of Ireland and its people.

Our most recent menu prepared by the Home Economics department was baked mackerel, baked potato, and tapioca pudding with whipped cream.

On Saturday, May 7, Northfield High will play Hinsdale High at Hinsdale. Last year two games were played. Northfield won the first by a score of 13-6, but Hinsdale came back to take the second game by a 9-8 score. The team and faculty urge that these games be well attended by the school and townspeople.

Several members of the faculty attended the dress rehearsal of the faculty play at the seminary.

Service as a Personal Tribute

Central to the treatment of his subject, "Service" the minister of the South Church said in part:

"It is noble to give by one's life rather than to receive for the asking, because emptiness asks while fullness grants. We are served in our weakness, and all service we do is possible by growing capabilities and trained faculties and endowed powers. That we may serve is a tribute we gain by faithful application to the ends for which we are made and by obedience to the law of our Maker."

God has ordained that men shall live by the living they bestow or the good they do in some way. Men find as a rule in this world of God that they cannot work for themselves or their enrichment without working for others and doing the good which others approve or for which are willing to pay.

He that would prosper in his business, whatsoever it may be, must be rich in good will toward the community and serve faithfully its wants. He cannot labor ten or twelve or sixteen hours, or the lesser eight hours a day for himself without laboring as long for his fellow men.

Service is the shuttle by which the warp and woof of existence are woven into the adequate garb for all want. Service is not mere drudgery. It is not, that is, in any one of God's intelligent and moral creatures. We must take a spirit to our work in the image of that of our Maker. It must have meaning to us and realization in us. "To put a soul into the most ordinary occupations," wrote Charles Wagner, "is the charm of grace of existence."

The figures for the first quarter of the year, made public recently by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, show a falling off of nearly 6 per cent as compared with the same quarter of last year. The actual drop was 36,320 cars and trucks, almost entirely attributable to the decrease during March.

Lovesick Swain: Can you cook?

Boy: Oh! And what is first?
Girl: Can you provide the things to be cooked?

You Need All Five!

Don't make the common mistake of thinking that—because you have an automobile insurance policy you are fully protected.

Unless your policy contains the five kinds of Automobile insurance shown above you are taking a chance on some common hazard.

Kindly Appreciation

The Church Calendar of the First Presbyterian Church of Mount Vernon, N. Y., of Sunday, April 24th sent to The Herald contains these fine words of appreciation:

"It is with profound regret that we have to announce that Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Coburn are leaving Mount Vernon to take up their residence in East Northfield, Mass. The entire membership of our First Presbyterian Church shares a sincere sense of gratitude for the many years of unfailing devotion and beautiful and efficient service of these two servants of Christ, in the interests of the church and the Kingdom. Mr. Coburn's record as Clerk of our Session for 25 years, together with Mrs. Coburn's 20 years as Secretary of the Women's Missionary Society, is a unique record in itself. But it is their own personal sincerity, their unselfishness, their consistent loyalty through their 33 years of membership, which have given them an imperishable place in our church life. They have set an example of true Christianity and worthy churchmanship to which we especially draw the attention of the younger members of our congregation upon whom the responsibility for the continuance of the work of the church must rest. We are going to miss Mr. and Mrs. Coburn more than words can tell, but wherever they are, our love and prayers will follow them, and they will always be welcome to our hearts and homes whenever they are in the community."

Mr. and Mrs. Coburn recently purchased the Purrington home in Mountain Park as a summer residence and plan to spend their summers in Northfield although making their legal home at Chatham, N. Y. Mr. Coburn is retired as a former Principal of Mount Vernon High School.

J. K. Shaw experiment station pomologist, reports that vegetation was at a normal state of advance at the end of the month, that both apple and peach buds had come through without injury and that prospects are bright for a heavy apple crop.

The mean temperature for the month was 44.4 while the normal for April is 45.8. Total precipitation for the month was 2.33 inches as compared to normal of 3.27. There were only traces of snow during the month, the normal snowfall being 2.32 inches. In 1891 11 inches of snow fell in April. There were 211.8 hours of bright sunshine as compared to a normal of 221. The statement includes conditions in the Northfield area.

High School Notes

Oral themes are in season now in some of our English classes. In the theme below Jean Giebel has told how some of us feel about it.

Waiting For The Bell To Ring
On Oral Theme Day

The best class to forget everything you ever knew is English on oral theme day. If there are several who are to give themes, the first thought is: "Who is the first or who comes next?" A shaky look passes between the pupils. "She is going to call on me now. What is it that I am going to say? Oh, dear! I can't remember when that man was born or who he married. Such a lot of unnecessary stuff to know!" "No, you are not the next one to speak. What a relief!"

Not much attention is being paid to the pupil reciting. At first you may get the introduction of the theme, but as it goes on, that uncertain feeling comes again, I'm the next victim. I don't understand why that bell doesn't ring. Surely we have been here forty minutes.

Everyone has recited except you. There is a long discussion going on about that last theme, but you never hear a word of it. Hurriedly you are trying to recall what you are to say. "Why can't that bell ring? If I keep on shaking the way I am now, I won't be able to give my topic. They are doing fine discussing that theme of Jane's. If they have time they will probably have just as good a time pulling mine to pieces. That teacher must have forgotten to ring the bell."

The bell rings and a sigh of relief has escaped. But wait! There is something more to think about. "I spent my only study period this morning to prepare my theme hurriedly. All the rest of my studies were neglected, and now, one whole, precious period wasted, and the same thing has to be gone through with tomorrow."

Just "greasing" isn't enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

"Go after business" sounds like good advice, until you remember where business has gone.

Friend: Hello, Agnes, I haven't seen you for a long time but heard you were to be married. When is the happy day?

Agnes: Oh, I've been married several months but the happy day now depends on the judge.

South Vernon

Miss Alison Fiest of Waterbury, Vt. and Mr. Sarah Seward of Fairhaven, Vt., visited Miss Ruth Seward at Mrs. Forrest Streeter's last week.

Next Sunday the South Vernon Church services will be as follows, Eastern Standard Time: 9:30 a.m., Church School; 10:40 a.m., Sermon by the pastor; 7 p.m., Song Service, followed by a sermon; 7:30, Thursday midweek service at the Vernon Home. p.m., Friday, Choir rehearsal at the parsonage.

Rev. Mr. Gray gave a fine sermon last Sunday morning on "The Acid Test of Christian Fellowship." The choir sang a beautiful song "Wonderful Love." In the evening he spoke on "The Witness of a Christian Gentleman." Mrs. Gertrude Gibson sang a fine solo, "No Night There." A large audience was in attendance.

The South Vernon Church School was well represented at the Windham County Church School Convention, that was held at the Union Church at Vernon, Monday last. The program was as previously published and many interesting addresses were given, both morning and afternoon. The banquet of the young people was at six o'clock. Mrs. R. E. Bruce of South Vernon had an exhibit of Daily Vacation Bible School work. Mrs. E. W. Dunklee gave a selection on the vibraphone and Miss Dorothy Gray presided at the organ.

America's Gossip Leaps to America's Billboards

THIS is the face that coined a thousand guips. It is Walter Winchell, newspaper columnist and radio gossip, now leaping to 45,000 billboards throughout the United States with his microphone and his cheery "OK America!"

The likeness is an artist's conception of the lusty "OK" spirit that wraps together Winchell's gossip and wisecracks; the music of the best dance orchestras in London, Paris, Buenos Aires, New York, Los Angeles or where you will; and presidential campaign speeches by leaders of both parties; and during the Lucky Strike Dance Hour delivers them by radio to twenty million homes.

Time and space mean nothing to the magic of modern science when Winchell, 1932-style magician, signals his "OK" to dance orchestra leaders across oceans and continents, and in the twinkling of an eye, brings their rhythms to every corner of the country.

This likeness of the Winchellian countenance will appear on posters in 18,886 cities with a total population of 82 million, and if there are any in the land who haven't yet heard Winchell, they won't miss seeing his likeness.

The Poet's Corner

UNCLE SI AND WOMEN'S RIGHTS

We been married, nigh on forty years,
And Mandy's 'alays willin'
To make my fav'r-ite apple pies
And layer cake with fillin'.
She'd git up early ev'ry morn
To cook me meat and 'taters,
And when I had to order took,
She'd al'ays write the letters.

When I clean forgit the fire,
She'd go and chop some kindlin',
And never tetch'd, my money bag,
Not even when 'twas jinglin'.
She never sh'd fer hired help
When men come for the hayin',
And went without a new silk dress,
Though her Sunday gown was frayin'.
She took the money fer her eggs
It did most seem a pity
And bought some table cloths and sheets.

'Stid o' goin' to the city,
Her fambly live in Bostin town,
It costs a lot o' money
To go, so she stayed right to home.
Her folks, they thot it funny,
But ev'ry month she rode with me
To take things to the market.

And once, 'bout ten years ago,
She bought, a new hall carpet.
Then, guess 'twas last Christmas time,
I give her half a dollar,
She runs right down to the corner's store
And got a white lace collar.

And then one day to our Town,
There comes a female speaker.
She says she'd traveled all the world
And was a wisdom seeker.
She held a meetin' to the hall,
And called in all the wimmin,
She made 'em laugh and clap their hands.

Till tears their eyes was swimmin'.
She told them wimmin to go out,
And git their rightful earnings'.
She called the men most ev'rythin',
Her words was awful burnin'.
She says the females musn't look
To men, as to their betters.
For wimmin must have equal rights,
And bust their chains and fetters'.

So home come Mandy runnin' fast,
Her meekness all a-flyin'.
She told me jist what I could do,
And left me here a-sighin'.
She says for nigh on forty years
She'd been fer me a-slavin'
She told me all I hadnt done,
And did some awful ravin'.

Then up the stairs she boldly marched
To my box o' Sunday collars,
She lifted off the cover top,
And grabbed out fifty dollars!
'Good-bye', says she, 'I'm goin' now
To visit my relation,
Old Missus Green will come and cook
While I have a vacation.'

But Mandy's comin' home to-night
Been gone a month, seems longer.
I wouldn't blame my wife a bit,
If she had jawed me stronger.
I don't believe in wimmin's rights,
But I'm goin' ter treat her better
And gosh! She's glad she's comin' home.

She says so in her letter!

AIR CASTLES

I would rather be a builder
Of castles made of air
To be rebuild'd every day
And dwell in fancy there.
With every thing to make me glad,
The doors all closed to gloom
And sunlight of tomorrow
Shining into every room.
Then ever keep within the walls
Of sad things past or now,
For though my castles do not last
They're cheering anyhow,
And so I build and build again,
Rebuild from day to day,
And sometime the master-builder
May let my castles stay.

VAGABOND'S PARADISE

To these fair islands, I have drifted,
from across the seven seas
Land of sunshine, beauty gifted; 'tis a paradise for me
People call me drifter, dreamer—and a vagabond, I guess,
For my life seems to gain me nothing,
but I also lose much less
Taking whatever the Fates may give,
Oh God—it's a glorious life to live.

On this lovely lonely island, Nature builds a house for me.
The roof is made of azure sky, my yard is a turquoise sea,
The walls of my house are the trees and the flowers, my bed is a beach of sand
Where I may idle away the hours, and dream of some other land.

Have you ever been to Honolulu—it's such an interesting place,
With its winding streets, quaint old shops, and people there of every race;
See the smiles upon their faces—Ah!
I've been a lot of places, from the Yukon down to Zulu,
But I've never seen a carefree lot,
like these folks of Honolulu.

But back to my island I must hasten
—there a luau (native feast) to attend,
Fish, roast pig, one finger poi, all prepared by a native friend,
And if in my heart there's any sorrow, I'll take the cup—not ask what's in it.

Drain it well—and in a minute I'll be gayer than the gayest.

On a moon-drenched beach there'll be a Hula,

Native maids with forms like Venus
—eyes that glisten like the stars,
Dancing in swaying rhythm to the jazzy ukeleles and sobbing steel guitars.

What's this strange but pleasant feeling that's suddenly within me, Rousing, beating at the senses—like the tom-tom's mad cadences,
'Tis the magic spell of old Hawaii.

Over 'neath the sheltering palms, a lover holds a sweetheart in his arms,
Whispering love words in her ear, and if them we could hear Twould be a stirring song—foretelling bliss
In the moonlight they seem as one—joined together in a kiss.

Love on, fair youth while yet you may, for night too soon is over, and the coming day
May see your vows forgotten, and you'll want to go away
But don't be hasty—think, be wise;
another night will come and then you'll realize
That you'd better remain and live and love in this tropical Paradise.

These islands many scenic fortunes
unfold; Sun-gold and moon gold,
That's gold that cannot be bought or sold,
Priceless or worthless it all may be,
but this beautiful island surrounded by the sea,
Would not be exchanged for all the rest of the world—by me.

NEWSPAPER GUYS

I see a man pushing his way through the lines
Of cops where the work of the fire fiend shines.
'The Chief?' inquire, but a fireman replies.
'Gee no! Why, that's one of those
newspaper guys.'

I see a man walk through the gates of a show
Where great throngs are blocked by the sign S. R. O.
'Is that man the star, that no ticket
he buys?'

'Star nothin'! that's one of those
newspaper guys.'

I see a man sit in the seat of the great,
And they ask his advice upon matters
of state.
'A diplomat, surely,' but to my surprise
They tell me he's one of those newspaper guys.

And some day I'll stand by the great
gates of gold,
And watch a man pass through unquestioned and bold,
'A saint?' I will ask and St. Peter'll
reply:
'No, that's only a plain, honest newspaper guy.'

INVESTIGATE THE G-E 4-YEAR SERVICE PLAN

Before You Buy Your Refrigerator

The Mechanism of Any Refrigerator is More Important to You than the Price Tag

LET'S GET DOWN TO THE FACTS on modern refrigeration.

It is misleading to focus all attention on incidental features . . . or on the price tag only. The mechanism is your most important consideration in the selection of a refrigerator. When it fails, service and repair bills commence. Continuous service charges on a "cheap" refrigerator can eat up the very savings modern refrigeration makes.
General Electric's 4-Year Service Plan protects every new buyer against any failure

Span of Life Is Lengthening

Plumber Seen As Important As Physician in Adding Twenty Years to Life Expectancy

A child born today has an expectancy of life twenty years in excess of that of a child born half a century ago, and the span of life of human beings is still increasing, Morgan J. Hammers, vice-president and general manager of the Petroleum Heat and Power Company, stated at the annual meeting of the American Oil Burner Association in Boston. However, he said, "only a relatively small part of the population live much beyond the three-score years and ten mentioned in the Bible. What medical science and improved sanitary conditions have done is the prevention of earlier death. Better care and feeding of babies, for example, has reduced the annual death rate of infants from infant diarrhea of 75 per 100,000 population to 18. This means that 70,000 infants each year are now saved from this single disease of childhood.

"Improved living conditions are to a very large part responsible for the adding of twenty years on the average life of the children born in the United States," continued Mr. Hammers. "The plumber might almost be said to have contributed as much to the health of the nation as has the physician. The abolition of the outhouse has been an important step forward. The ice-box, which fifty years ago was almost a rarity in the average home, enables mothers to keep the food for children in sanitary condition. The vacuum cleaner collects and disposes of the germ laden dust, thus making the air purer in the average American home. And now, the introduction of automatic oil heating, where a constant even temperature is maintained, is adding to the health and comfort of American families. Physicians are in general agreement that colds and many other ills, especially children's diseases, are caused chiefly by exposure to fluctuating temperatures. Running from a warm to a cold corner of the house, or playing in a room whose temperature fluctuates as high as ten or fifteen degrees during the day, weakens the resistance and exposes the children to colds. The value of maintaining a home at a constant temperature is eloquently testified to by the fact that over ten per cent of the homes of the physicians in the United States now have oil burners. The average for the entire population, with about one million homes equipped with automatic oil burners, is only four per cent."

Mr. Hammers invented the first fully automatic oil burner in 1917 and has been a leading factor in the development of the industry.

Inchy Spencer, Town Loafer
In Stebbins Boys Sketches

Here we have Inchy Spencer, played by Robert Strauss in the Stebbins Boys sketches, caught in a rare moment of activity.

Inchy Spencer, town loafer of Bucksport Point, is proving one of the most popular characters in the nightly Stebbins Boys sketches over NBC. Followers of the series find Inchy's earnest efforts to avoid work highly amusing. The part is played by Robert W. Strauss, who hails from Chattanooga, Tenn., and was headed for a mining engineering career, via Lehigh University, when he got interested in theatricals at the school and neglected his digging. He had made a start in vaudeville when the war came along and he got a commission in the famous Wildcat Division.

Coming back after the armistice Strauss appeared in several Broadway shows in comedy parts, and during seven seasons toured with Fritz Leiber's Shakespearean repertoire company. He has played comedy roles in all the important plays of the Bard.

Before joining the Stebbins cast, Strauss had achieved a good deal of microphone experience, having played "Pink Freese" in the "Moonshine and Honeysuckle" series, as well as other dramatic roles.

The 66th Annual State Encampment of the G. A. R. met in Boston recently with less than 100 of the soldiers of the Civil war in attendance. The records of Dec. 31st, 1931 show that there are only 754 survivors of that war in Massachusetts.

The National Grange has decided to hold its next annual session at Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and the dates are November 16-25, with the likelihood of thousands of Grange members from coast to coast journeying towards North Carolina for the big ten days' session. Stanley King, formerly a business leader of Boston and for many years a prominent figure in state and national public affairs, has been elected president of Amherst college.

Mr. King who becomes, at forty-nine years of age, the eleventh head of the college, succeeds Arthur Stanley Pease, who resigned to accept a professorship at Harvard.

The department of public works has issued its first road map of Massachusetts for 1932, showing travel conditions on through routes as of April 15. The map shows locations on important routes where highway construction is in progress, where road is open to traffic under police control and where detours are provided. U. S. and state routes are properly marked, also hard surfaced roads, untreated surface and connecting roads.

Sunday April 17th was "Humane Sunday" and Gov. Ely issued a proclamation to observe the day to "emphasize our duty to dumb animals." The week of April 18 to 23 was proclaimed as "be kind to animals week" by the governor, who said, "I strongly urge the teachers in our schools and all our citizens to continue to impress on the minds of our youth the necessity and worthiness of kind and humane treatment to the dumb animals which have been placed in our care."

Another Good Issue Record Christian Work

On the Editor's desk this week is a copy of the May Record of Christian Work with a "fulness" of articles upon religious matters. The author's "Who's Who" is as follows:

Rev. A. J. Billings an English minister who makes his first appearance.
Rev. Paul E. Scherer, D. D., minister of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, New York City. He is heard on the Northfield platform every year.
Ward W. Adair, general secretary of the Railroad YMCA at New York City.

Rev. Howard M. Morgan a Presbyterian minister in Lexington, Ky. He is a son of Dr. G. Campbell Morgan.
Rev. Boynton Merrill, D. D., minister of the Second Church in Newton, Mass.

Dr. W. Douglas MacKenzie, ex-president of Hartford Seminary Foundation.

First Prize Essay By Amelia Urgielewicz

ALCOHOL

Alcohol is defined as a narcotic poison, the intoxicating element in whiskey, beer, wine and the other harmful drinks. It is made up of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen. All proteins contain nitrogen in addition to these three. Because alcohol contains no nitrogen, it cannot be used in growth.

Many patent medicines contain a considerable amount of alcohol. But, since the passage of the National Food and Drug Act, which went into effect a number of years ago, the presence and quantity of alcohol in "patent medicine," has to be declared on the label. This tended to reduce the amount of alcohol in many cases. There still remained a large number of preparations whose most active and powerful drug was alcohol. Some were so slightly medicated that the United States government wouldn't let them sell it except under a liquor license. Since the advent of prohibition, of course, these can be sold only under strict regulations. It is necessary to make an elaborate series of quotations from educated men to prove that alcohol is not useful and necessary as medicine in the cure of disease. There is no evidence that alcohol has any effect on the destructive course of disease or any beneficial effects. Alcohol is known to decrease the power in the body to withstand the disease. It does not assist in destroying the poisons which arise in the case of bacterial disease. One should never use alcohol except by order of a physician.

Athletics have held a leading interest in the United States for many years. Now any boy who wants to take part in sport must not drink, because they don't want to bother with such boys. Alcohol is a preventive of the "clean living and quick thinking," which are the two essential points to success.

People who pay to see a baseball game are entitled to see the player at his best and not intoxicated. He gets a good salary, for which he owes his best service, and if he doesn't do his best he is dishonest to his friends and the club. Also it isn't fair for him to have his teammate do his share in the game.

Alcohol is not good for any human being. No aviator or driver should drink because it weakens his power of steady attention and endurance. That is one reason why there are so many accidents now a days.

These are some of the effects alcohol has on people who drink intoxicating drinks. It requires a drinker a much longer time to recover and his recovery is often a poorer one. The drinker's broken bones knit more slowly because the impaired body cells and tissue take longer to "build a bridge" which "knits" the broken ends together. It takes a wound, sore or cut much longer to heal and it might easily get poison.

Alcohol has many bad effects on the nervous system because the nervous system guides and controls other systems and alcohol appears to have a special attraction for the cell. Also its effect on the digestive organs, the liver, the regulation of heart action, the brains, which weakens the inhibitor nerves on the nerves themselves is very great.

It fatigues us making the heart beat much faster. All of these derangements lead to some dangerous diseases which cause death.

It is very interesting to know the contrast between alcohol and foods.

1. Food is used for growth and development of the young; alcoholic drinks injure and endanger our health.

2. Food increases the working power of the muscles and brain; drink decreases it.

3. Food aids one in enduring physical strain; drink hasten fatigue and lower endurance.

4. Food warms the body; drink increases the escape of heat, and makes the person chilly.

5. Food keeps the body in condition to resist disease; drink lowers its powers of resistance.

Alcoholics do not live long after being injured as abstainers do. The wise person is he who does his work in life without the use of that most injurious of narcotics alcohol.

The Green Ticket

Does your automobile have the green ticket of inspection? Hundreds of autos have been held up for observation since last Monday when Registrar Ryan started the annual "check-up." State Inspectors are on all roads and they are alert as results already prove. Under the rules and regulations, brakes, headlights, rear lights and other equipment must be periodically inspected and car owners have been warned for some time that the date of May first would see drastic enforcement. Better get your car tested at an official garage and put on the "green ticket."

"SYMPHONY OF SIX MILLIONS"
and "THE RECKONING"

Charged with intimate drama and laid in New York's colorful background, a new and powerful film written by Fannie Hurst is R. K. O.'s "Symphony of Six Million," co-featuring Ricardo Cortez and Irene Dunne in a sub line romance of self-sacrifice and love.

Directed by Gregory La Cava with the same sweep and magnitude which distinguished the original story by Miss Hurst, the film truthfully reflects the stern background East Side and takes a clinical interest in the lives of a Ghetto doctor and a teacher of the slums.

The film is replete with vivid sets of East Side streets, hospital operating rooms and the free clinics which minister to the ailments of the unfortunate poor of a big city.

Ricardo Cortez who plays the role of the doctor, is seen in a sympathetic characterization for the first time in four years. The suave villain of the screen is transformed into an idealistic type.

Miss Dunne presents a noble high-minded type of American womanhood. The picture is excellently cast with Anna Appel, formerly of the Yiddish Art theatre, Gregory Ratoff of the Moscow Art theatre, and Noel Madison and Lita Chevre in strong supporting roles.

"The Reckoning" a Peerless production with Sally Blane, James Murray and Edmund Breese. Advance reports from Hollywood are to the effect that this is a particularly exciting melodrama with plenty of heart interest. Sally Blane plays the part of a girl who battles with all her strength to free her lover from evil influences and wins just when the fight seems lost.

TOM MIX in "DESTROY RIDES AGAIN" and "YOUNG BRIDE"

With Helen Twelvetrees, Eric Linden and Arline Judge.

Tom Mix, the greatest western hero of all time, returns to the screen after three triumphal circus years, in "Destry Rides Again." There isn't a boy under sixty who doesn't plan to turn out and hear as well as see Tom Mix on the screen. The only drawback to this first talking appearance of Tom Mix is the fact that Tony cannot talk, too. There isn't anything that Tony cannot do, but so far Mix has not been able to teach Tony to say anything, except in the sign language.

Tom Mix's reputation goes back to the earliest traditions of moving picture business. He was the original western star, and with every year his popularity and prestige increased. Strange to say, the three years of his absence from the screen have merely served to demonstrate that popularity. The avidity with which the theatres throughout the United States have demanded the Tom Mix pictures, delayed unfortunately by his operation, insures a wilder appearance of "Destry Rides Again" than that of any other picture which will be shown this year.

For a time it looked as though Mix would never ride again. In that respect, the title of his picture upon which he was ready to go to work was prophetic. The studio had already chosen Max Brand's story, "Destry Rides Again," as the re-entry vehicle for the great western hero, but when he recovered from the most despot struggle which he ever entered, the struggle with Old Man Peritonitis, the title "Destry Rides Again," took on an added significance. In addition to the inevitable Tony, the cast includes Claudia Dell, beautiful Ziegfeld Follies girl, ZaSu Pitts, Earle Fox, Stanley Fields, Francis Ford, Frederick Howard, Edward Peale and George Ernest.

Telling a human story replete with drama and heart throbs "Young Bride" is distinguished by uniformly excellent performances and the expert direction of William Seiter.

Taking as its central characters a typical trio from the teeming millions of New York's middle classes, the story deals with a girl's heroic fight to build happiness upon the ashes of disillusion.

Allie Smith, beautiful but lonely librarian's assistant, meets Charlie Riggs, a handsome shiek of a cheap public dance hall, through a "blind date." Charlie talks of big business deals and far-away places. To romance-hungry Allie, he possesses tremendous glamour. In her, Charlie sees a type entirely different from the dance hall "molls." A whirlwind romance culminates in marriage.

Then Allie discovers the real Charlie. The boy, in turn is irked by marriage restrictions, and Maisie, dance hall siren plays a trump card to further complicate the strained situation. The film builds to a heart-stirring finish.

In the role of Allie, Miss Twelvetrees gives a fine performance and shares honors with Linden, who invests the somewhat unsympathetic character of the boy with striking realism and human appeal. Miss Judge gets the utmost from the part of Maisie, the eye-appealing dance hall siren. Other good performances are contributed by Polly Walters, Cliff Edwards, Roscoe "Stuttering" Ates, Blanche Frederici and Allen Fox. Garrett Fort adapted the stage hit by Hugh Stanislaus Strange.

Miss Landi's role is that of a modern American divorcee, remarried, with an ex-husband whose only desire in life is to smash her newly found happiness.

Competition Proves Life Of Grocery Trade

That there is plenty of truth behind the old adage about competition being the life of trade is proved regarding the progress made in the past ten years by the grocery business as shown in a comprehensive survey made by William G. Shepherd for Collier's Weekly.

The independent grocer, far from being wiped out by chain competition, has been growing stronger and more efficient by leaps and bounds. Mr. Shepherd finds that everybody has benefitted by the prolonged and at times bitter warfare which the old-fashioned has had to wage for his very existence. The housewife gets more efficient service, better goods, prompter deliveries and lower prices. The chain stores get a fair share of the business, but the progressive independent is also a beneficiary, having developed an efficiency which means quicker turnover, better selling methods, and fewer unsalable items.

Independent grocers have strengthened themselves greatly by buying cooperatively, advertising cooperatively and selling cooperatively. Groups of independent grocers have organized in the so-called "voluntary chains," with remarkable results in efficiency. "About two years ago," says Mr. Shepherd, "the regular chains were about equal in number to the volunteers. Since then the volunteers have added over 16,000 to their lists. And they are multiplying rapidly. They are now working hard at increasing their efficiency by refinements in merchandising. Many of them have already caught up with the less scientific chain systems.

"The independent grocer has learned the mass grocery business. The chains urged him on to it. They didn't crush him, — they unwittingly forced him to learn team work in business, instead of playing the lone wolf. That means just as much profit for him as before, if not more. And he gains greatly in power and security. Still more important to the general public, it means lower grocery prices and more reliable merchandise for Mrs. America. The average grocer today is striking just about the safe minimum in economic distribution." In talking with Mr. Fred Irish and Mr. Frank Kellogg of Northfield in regard to this matter they expressed themselves as in accord with Mr. Shepherd's views.

Just "greasing" isn't enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Schools For Pastors Offered This Summer

The committee on town and country of the Home Missions council and the Federal Council of Churches has arranged for a series of schools for pastors in town and country fields, providing interesting projects in continuing education. Schools of this type have been conducted on an interdenomination basis throughout the country for the past 12 years. Curricula are arranged on the basis of experience.

Some religious bodies offer scholarships for these schools, and rural pastors who are interested in attending should communicate with their country church department of their home missions board for information in regard to the scholarships.

Schools scheduled for 1932 in the East with the names of the directors and the dates are as follows:

New England schools for town and country ministers, Bangor Theological seminary, Bangor, Me., Prof. Ralph S. Adams, June 13-24.

Auburn summer school of theology, Auburn, N. Y., Prof. H. L. Reed, June 27-August 4.

Appeal Responses Slow

Northfield thus far has failed to reach the amount expected for the Salvation Army which fixed a quota of $250 in its appeal. The amount is somewhat short of last year's subscription and Rev. Mr. Coe, Chairman of the local Committee hopes that those intending to make a subscription will send the same as soon as possible to Mr. Hoehn, Treasurer of the Fund at the Northfield National Bank.

The New Bi-Centennial Quarter Dollar Coined

The new George Washington quarter dollar, to be issued by the United States Treasury as a feature of the nation-wide George Washington Bi-Centennial Celebration, will be coined and ready for distribution before June 1.

The design of the new coin was executed by John Flanagan, New York sculptor.

The obverse of the new coin bears the portrait of George Washington in profile. Over the head appears the word "Liberty," and below it is stamped the date "1932." To one side is the motto "In God We Trust."

The principal design of the other side is a spread eagle with the inscription "United States of America" and "E Pluribus Unum" above, and "Quarter Dollar" below. An olive branch also appears below the eagle to complete a stately, dignified design. The new coin is exactly the same size, weight and fineness as the present quarter dollar.

The George Washington quarter is the first coin of regular issue ever to bear the image of the First President.

As a coin of regular issue the George Washington quarter will replace the twenty-five cent piece now in circulation. No other quarter dollar will be coined for the next twenty-five years unless authorized by special act of Congress.
